

If you could choose
just one thing to change
about the world, what would it be?

Discuss this question with people in your home. Are there views different or the same? Do you agree or disagree with other people and why?