L.O: To generate vocabulary to describe a character

Little Red Riding Hood's Mum thinks that she has gone missing because she hasn't returned from Granny's house for her tea.

She thinks that the Wolf is behind her disappearance and wants to capture him for his crimes.

She needs your help to create a wanted poster, but first let's take a look at some wanted posters...

What do you notice?

What information do we need to include on a wanted poster?

WANTED

Jack is wanted for crimes against the giant community. He betrayed the trust of Mrs Giant and stole her husband's golden coins, his magic harp and a goose which can lay solid, gold eggs!

Jack is a small and skinny boy. He has dark eyes and short, brown hair. His pale complexion is covered with tiny freckles and he has flushed, rosy-red cheeks.

He was last seen on Monday climbing down a thick, twisted beanstalk and wearing a pair of blue and white, striped pyjamas. He was barefoot and, in his arms, he was carrying the stolen goods. Although Jack looks like a harmless, little boy, he isn't as innocent as he looks! He is a greedy and manipulative individual!

Your Task:

In this lesson, you will be generating adjectives to describe the Wolf.

What does he look like?

What is he like?

You will then be using these adjectives to write sentences to describe him.

Success Criteria:

- I can magpie adjective from the text.
- I can generate adjectives to describe what a character looks like.
- I can describe what a character is wearing.

Little Red Riding Hood hadn't been walking far when she heard a rustling in the trees. Then she heard a deep, silky voice calling, "Little girl, little girl, can you spare a minute?"

Little Red Riding Hood was curious and strayed off the path to see where the voice was coming from. It seemed to come from the dark shadows behind the trees. There was a funny smell of old dogs and, for a moment, she thought she saw a tall woolly figure. She remembered what her mum had said but the voice was quite friendly. "What do you want?" said Little Red Riding Hood boldly.

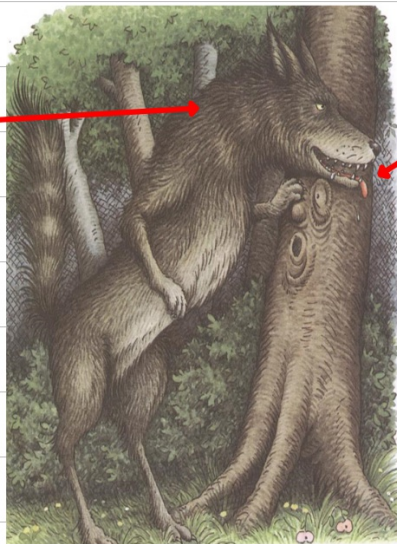

Can you identify the adjectives in the text?
