Writing Task: Mastering inverted commas

<https://www.bbc.co.uk/bitesize/articles/zbvd7sg>

Watch the video clips to revise how to use inverted commas.

Remember:
When you are writing, inverted commas go before and after any words that a character says (known as direct speech).
For example: "I'm hungry," complained Goldilocks.

If another character replies, the rule is to use another set of inverted commas and put the new person speaking on a new line.

Now have a go at practising activity 1, 2 and 3.
