Guardian

This statue was positioned outside the royal burial chamber in order to guard Tutankhamun's body

Gold was used for the Guardian's clothing and facial details in order to show the 'divinity' of Tutankhamun, aka his God like power!

The Guardian's wooden body was painted black to represent the black silt of the River Nile and its rebirthing and fertile properties!

Choose some colours you would use to create your own Guardian and explain what they represent:

3.

W

These doll like figures, called 'Shabtis', were buried with King Tutankhamun

Write your own magic spell here! Create a magical phrase and explain what happens when it's said aloud. Why not draw your own shabtis, too!?! ✨
